Marin County School to Career Partnership Overview

Mission: To bring Marin educators and employers together to create meaningful work-based learning opportunities for the students of today, while building the workforce of tomorrow.

Background:

Since 1997, the Marin County School to Career Partnership has been connecting schools, businesses, and organizations to create exciting work-based learning opportunities for students.

Supporting schools in planning and implementing career pathways, academies, and work-based learning programs, the Partnership has enjoyed strong community-wide support. Engaging with over 200 businesses, this collaboration has provided career exploration opportunities such as internships, guest speakers, job shadows, and class tours to over 1,000 students a year

These on-the-job experiences allow students to explore areas of personal and career interest, acquire the skills necessary to be successful employees, and formulate goals and plans for their futures.

Please join us in creating a brighter future for better prepared students!

Goals:

- Increase work-based learning opportunities in high-growth industry sectors for all Marin County high school students.
- Partner with employers to create and offer relevant/up to date Career Technical Education (CTE) curriculum that meets today's industry standards.
- Develop and support industry-recognized certificates for students to earn while in high school.
- Work with employers to identify and cultivate future CTE instructors.

Awards:

- Award for Excellence in Workforce Preparedness, Marin County Economic Commission

"I put my interest in engineering to use through the projects I worked on in my internship. The whole process and range of engineering was introduced to me including the many opportunities in an engineering career. I learned how to think outside the box and the importance of teamwork."
