Learning Sprints provides a simple, effective and field-tested approach to supporting educators to continually enhance their practice. This action-orientated professional learning program is designed for school teams who are ready to master the Learning Sprints process and take the steps necessary to embed it into their school.

School teams will build confidence in the Learning Sprints approach and plan how to systematically test out the approach with a select few groups of teachers. Teams will explore how to overcome potential challenges that may emerge and consider how to create a high-trust culture for rapid learning.
