

Building and Operator Certification

The Marin County Office of Education and the Marin Energy Watch Partnership will be hosting a Building and Operator Certification class for key school facility personnel from Marin County and the North Bay region. This will be a seven-day course held between January and June 2015 and is eligible for Prop 39 funding. The focus of the course will be on maximizing efficient use of HVAC, mechanical and lighting systems to support conservation and cost savings.

Watch for an announcement on the start of this class in the near future.
